

LINE II

Andrea Leoni

Short biography

Born in 1971, Andrea Leoni is a painter, musician and video maker. From the beginning of his research in the fields of painting, graphics and digital art, he has been strongly interested in representing microcosms such as dynamic and geometric core elements as well as in exploring the human world, in line with the surrealist lesson. For several years, he has been involved both in painting and video experimentation, creating visual and sound works dealing with his favorite subjects such as the incessant play of fullness and emptiness, dynamic expansion and calm, and the complex relationship between aspiration and limits, interconnection and individuality.

Video synopsis

At the core of Line II lies the urgency of being within the excitement of a constant state of impermanent variation, of fateful and creative transitoriness. Supported by a deep and powerful rhythmic structure, the composition pierces through the black background with its vibrant traces and figures of light, in an unexpected and unstoppable process of formation, dissolution, and reconstitution.
